All potential conflicts of interest must be disclosed at this time. COI might include being a consultant, developer, or author for a company that sells in the A&P market. Another example might be that you are working on developing a tool that you plan to sell at a later date. Please see <https://www.hapsweb.org/page/Sponsored> for further clarification. *

No, I have no conflict of interest to disclose

Yes, I have a conflict to disclose

Please explain your conflict of interest.

Does your poster or abstract mention any product by name, whether it is available either for a cost or free? OR alternatively, is it focused on a single product, named or unnamed? This might include any online resource, any published resource like a book, any manufactured product, or things like apps. *

Yes

No

Can you present your poster without mentioning the specific product's name? For example, if you are talking about using free on-line resources for your class in your poster, consider if you can do this poster without mentioning a specific product.

Yes

No

Please modify your poster abstract proposal to remove specific mention of any products or to refocus it away from a specific product before uploading it to this application. Proposals focused on or mentioning a product will not be accepted unless they are sponsored by a vendor. Please note that we may need to limit the number of vendor sponsored posters to one per vendor, and that not all sponsored posters may be accepted.

If your poster mentions any specific product, then it is either a sponsored poster (requiring both that it be presented by a vendor and also that the $75 sponsored poster fee is paid) or is not appropriate for presentation at the HAPS Virtual Conference. See the HAPS website for additional information.

Yes, I understand this policy, represent a vendor, and agree to pay the sponsored poster fee.

Yes, I understand this policy, but I think the product I am mentioning is free and therefore excluded from paying the fee.

Please list the name of the product that you are promoting and the name of the vendor.

Free products are defined by HAPS as products that are made available to HAPS members in their full, unrestricted form, at no cost, in perpetuity. HHMI is a good example of an organization providing this type of free resource. "Free" apps are not good examples - they are typically owned by groups intending to make money from the app. If they do not charge for their services, they typically collect data from users and sell that data. HAPS does not consider this "free."

I am promoting a free service from an organization that is an vendor.

I am promoting a "free" app for which I have verified ownership and privacy policies and for which the owner is vendor.

Please list the name of the free product that you are promoting and the name of the organization that is a vendor.

Please list the name of the free app, the owner of the app that is also a vendor and the privacy policies that include NOT collecting and/or selling user data.

You will be uploading your poster to a Virtual Poster Session website for people to view for the duration of the conference. During the poster presentation time (Tuesday October 14, 2025 from 4-5:30pm ET), you will need to provide a video chat link (like Zoom) available for the event. Are you able to accommodate this?

Yes!

No.

Is there any additional information we need to consider when reviewing your proposal?
